ABOUT PASS WITH FLYING COLORS

A college degree means opportunity and choice as an adult. College graduates earn more than double the annual income than adults who have attained only a high school degree. College graduates are healthier, are more active in their communities, have greater access to health insurance and retirement benefits, and are less likely to be incarcerated. College aspirations among low-income, first-generation students have risen significantly over the past 15 years yet the college attainment rates for the same period have remained flat. Pass With Flying Colors' eight-year program closes the aspiration-attainment gap, making college degrees a reality to a larger population of Chicago's low-income, first-generation students.

Pass With Flying Colors (PWFC) prepares Chicago high school students from underserved communities to be successful in college. Students join a PWFC cohort in their freshman year through a competitive application and interview process. Immediately scholars are immersed in programming and experiential activities that prepare them for the rigors of college. In high school PWFC scholars develop the academic, social and non-cognitive skills that are critical for college and career success. When they matriculate to college, scholars continue to receive PWFC mentoring, support and resources so they will realize their dream of a bachelor's degree.
